

Contents

Preface	vii
Judgement and Decision Making as a Topic of Sport Science	1
Maximization and optimization in sport	3
JDM history	4
The development of JDM research in sport	6
Rationale and structure of this book	10
Theories of (Social) Judgement	13
Psychophysics	16
Social judgement theory	18
Social cognition	19
Summary	25
Theories of Decision Making	27
Subjective expected utility theory	31
Prospect theory	32
Decisional field theory	33
Simple heuristic approach	35
Summary	37
Expertise in JDM	39
What are the components of expertise in JDM?	42
How can we measure JDM expertise?	43

How can we explain JDM expertise?	46
How can we develop JDM expertise?	47
Summary	48
Athletes	51
Judging one's own performance	53
What choices are athletes confronted with?	59
How do athletes choose?	66
JDM training for athletes	78
Summary	89
Managers and Coaches	91
JDM as a leadership task	93
Managerial JDM	95
Coaches' JDM	108
Summary	121
Referees	123
The tasks of referees	126
Perceptual limitations	127
Prior knowledge	132
Rules of information integration	136
Improving referees' JDM	139
Summary	143
Observers	145
Biases in judgements of sport performance	148
Predictions and betting	154
Summary	160
References	163
Author Index	189
Subject Index	201